

informative Scholar's Talk

useful topic

maybe should find a speaker talk about humour in academic world or get academic comedian

No doubt the speaker is very good but this kind of topic is also best delivered by a motivator or an NLP coach.

Excellent sharing by speaker..

Need more example that we can emulate

Motivation session, should be do again next time

overall is ok

The session is running so well. So much new knowledge gained.

We need more talks like this in future

So far so good. Can't wait to learn more on the concept of attentive management.

Overall good. Continuous make program for sharing and inspiring. Thanks

n/a

Love the sharing session and all the tips.

good

Boleh diteruskan

It is really a productive session in which i learn on how to optimize work scheduling

-

Good session 👍👏

Helps me to realise things that i have been doing wrong

Attractive topic. Overall good

Good sharing, useful for academicians as example and reference.

Totally satisfied. Presentation achieved the objectives and interesting

Good talk. Thank you.

For me, it a revising session. Sometime, you do know about it but tend to forget when not implementing. A good sharing. But can be better for a much comprehensive session on managing tasks as a continuity of this sharing.

Good work CAES!

Very inspiring sharing. Tq PM Dr Maryam >_<

its good sharing

Very good

Handling mental and emotion during this pandemic is definitely vital. Congratulations to CAES for organising this topic. I am looking forward for more psychological topics - important for us as academicians.

TQ CAES for the session. Speaker has shared a good content on the topics.

A good eye opener on time management especially on attention management which is a subset under the time management.

A very good sharing from speaker. Learn a few tips to increase my productivity especially on activities to be done according to proactive, active and inactive attentions.

-

continue with this good afford from CAES

Thank you for your time for sharing. Hope there will be sharing of how to be productive, with current pandemic situation where all family members at home, with children especially baby and juggling with works.

This talk is very helpful in managing daily life, particularly during this pandemic that we have to WFH. I can focus more on my work.

can improve my focus

Informative sharing, keep up the good work

I remember Dr Maryam teach me how to create multi subfolders for the research grant. It helps me a lot. Thanks!

Good and informative talk. Could help and motivate in daily work life.

Good sharing.. especially during this pandemic period where we need to wfh and at the same time need to focus on family.

It's really useful but I would like to suggest to cater it in WFH context. All the tips are good but, when it comes to WFH with another commitment (eg: PDPR and etc.), it will be very challenging to implement.

I know PM Dr Mariam already to be a productive and effective worker .. :) Excellent presentation and sharing by her.

Very good sharing & informative.

It was very useful and beneficial, I really need this. My work life is a mess, declutter is very much needed. Thank you.

It is a good sharing talk how to manage our talk wisely..

Very good, informative and inspiring sharing from the speaker.

good session

Very interesting talk and sharing. Really helpful.

very good sharing.will try to apply it.

should arrange part 2... it is really useful for us

First of all thanks so much for the talk. Very informative. Sorry, maybe the speaker can mix-up between English & BM much more, if no expatriates (actually they should know a bit of BM by now), as to make the session much more lively :). BM is our mother tongue after all. Thanks so much again for the sharing session.

Good sharing and good presenter.

Thanks for insight

Very good sharing.

Informative, but how to balance the time as a mother and lecturer, PDPR, class etc.

So far OK

So far so good, all the content that being delivered is new content that student able to study for future reference.

Good sharing. Very helpful to manage our attention to everyday tasks and how to practice attention management

-

INFO UTeM email is to be put under important emails inbox group. :)

I found the way to manage my daily activities, attention.

agree that we need to work smart not work hard because we need to ensure work-life balance, will be good to have some specific technical workshop such as organize calender, plan meeting and 5p according to our mood( active or inactive), organize folder, organized email etc.